

Birding with Kevin Cook

Sponsored by
Fort Collins Audubon Society

BIRDS A Class about Birds and Birding Fall 2007

This class is designed to help first-time beginners get started and long-time beginners get started again.

Oct 17 - Acquainting Yourself with the Possibilities

A look at bird diversity in North America, in Colorado, and in this area.

Oct 24 - Getting Better

Developing skills and tactics for finding birds on purpose and identifying them with certainty once you do.

Oct 31 - You and Your Bird Connection

Identifying what excites you about birds and learning how to nurture it as a passion... then follow it.

Nov 7 - Year Round Birding...For a Lifetime

Winter birding opportunities: when and where.

This class focuses on "how-to": how to find birds, how to identify them once you do find them, and how to remember them once you do identify them. It is also skills-based, emphasizing how to develop good, productive skills and how to avoid developing bad, unproductive birding habits. Frequently encountered and easy-to-find local birds will be featured.

Class Dates, Times, and Place

-  Dates: Wednesdays, October 17, 24, 31, November 7, 2007
-  Times: 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.
-  Location: JAX Outdoor Gear, 1200 N. College Ave., Fort Collins, in the conference room. (map)

Cost

-  Per session paid separately: $7 for Fort Collins Audubon Society members, $8 for nonmembers (Join now!)
-  Entire class paid at once: $26 for Fort Collins Audubon Society members, $30 for nonmembers (Join now!)

Registration

Call Kevin Cook at 223-8392 any afternoons or evenings, or Joel Hurmence at 481-2124 for full details.

